

LEE

Collections, mainly of printed papers, of Dr Ralph Leech (1911-2011) relating to his service with Church Missionary Society in East Africa

About 320 items, 1939-1973

Presented by Dr Leech 11 August 1994, early 1997 (Acc.19/12-13)

First instalment (LEE 1-12) catalogued by Graham Kings, Centre Director, c.2000, retaining Dr Leech's arrangement and expanding his descriptions, the second (LEE 13-22) continuing this by Sue Sutton, Archivist 1997-2009; introduction and LEE 23-24 added, some descriptions substantially amended and format revised by Philip Saunders, Archivist, December 2017

Catalogued with these papers is the recording of an interview made with Dr Leech by Graham Kings (LEE 22), two sketches which were either overlooked in the original catalogue or received with artifact collection in July 1997 (LEE 23) and an address definitely received with one of those items (LEE 24). A record of the artifact collection is being compiled.

Dr Ralph Bosdin Leech was a Cambridge graduate who worked in the Church Missionary Society Hospitals at Mengo, Uganda, 1938-47, and at Maseno, Kenya, 1947-62, prior to appointment as Medical Officer for Uganda, which office he held until 1964. Biographical information obtained at time of deposit is slender, but a genealogical website identifies him as born in Nungumbankum, Madras [now usually Nungambakkam, Chennai], the second son of Arthur John Leech (1873-1940) CIE [Companion of the Order of the Indian Empire] MBE a merchant from Manchester, son of Sir Bosdin Thomas Leech (notable promoter of the Ship Canal) and Kathleen née Elwes (1880-1972) [www.gatheringthethreads.co.uk]. The Rugby School Register 1911-46 and Rugby Who's Who confirms this and gives his parents address as The Palms, Madras. He was admitted to Rugby in 1925, left in 1929 on following in the steps of his notable medical uncle Ernest Bosdin Leech to Christ's College Cambridge, taking the Natural Sciences tripos in 1931 before clinical training at the London Hospital (MRCS LRCP 1935, MB ChB (Cantab, 1938)).

It seems likely his conversion to the CMS cause dates from his days at Cambridge.

During years in Uganda and Kenya he evidently developed a keen interest in African culture and built up a collection of local items which was donated to the Centre the year after the second instalment of this archive material (Acc 19/14). Online material refers to his qualified view of the East African Revival as providing 'a front for disgruntled members seeking attention' (letter to Archbishop Beecher 1955 cited in MW Gachihi's Nairobi 2014 PhD thesis 'Faith and Nationalism: Mau Mau and Christianity in Kikuyuland') though one would not have expected it from the content of this collection. Peterson's Ethnic Patriotism and the East African Revival however also cites his dismissal of the Johera, a sect of less extrovert revivalists, as 'disgruntled malcontents', so he was certainly a man with opinions.

Dr Leech provides a link to the pioneering age at Mengo of Sir Albert Cook, with whom he is shown in a photograph of 'Hospital Staff, Past and Present' in the year of his arrival (East African Medical Journal, Sir Albert Cook Memorial Number, plate IV (below, LEE 7/1)). His wife Bertha is also captioned in a photograph of the opening of the Lady Coryndon Maternity Training School, a venture of Cook's wife Katharine, in 1921 (Birmingham University Special Collections, CMS/Z/4). The Leeches returned from Africa in 1964, to Lymington, Hants., where Ralph went into general practice and also acted as a Church of England lay reader. He died in June 2011.

Biographical information of Mrs Leech is currently wanting. The photograph caption referred to above can be read to mean she was the Cooks' daughter and the date implies the identification is much later. O'Brien's That Good Physician refers extensively to another daughter, Margaret Ellen (married Gordon Bax in 1938 – their son has deposited family and professional papers at the Wellcome Institute, London), though strangely she is called Marjorie in W.D. Foster's Sir Albert Cook. A Missionary Doctor in Uganda (both in CCCW Library 920 COO), who became a doctor but not at all to Bertha, though a child aged about two is shown in a photograph of the Cooks and their children in 1912 (plate 12, facing p.113). She is described as 'also a medical missionary' in archive description of microfilmed papers of her husband in Bodleian Library (Micr.Afr.592 – circular letters to friends 1948-62, annual letters to CMS 1948-52, circulars from colleagues in Kenya 1958-78) at www.mundus.ac.uk. The papers catalogued here have scant reference to her, nor is she mentioned in the deposit correspondence beyond visiting the Centre with her husband in September 1997. Nevertheless, the collection was previously referred to as of Ralph and Bertha Leech. She died 20 August 2006 according to the CMS Connect Magazine April 2007 (online) referring summarily to service in Uganda and Kenya.
