Cyril Hooper was the third generation of a missionary family to work in Kenya. His grandfather was Douglas Arthur Lownds Hooper (1861/2-1918), pioneer missionary in East Africa. According to Venn’s Alumni, Douglas was son of William Hooper of Clapham, Esq., and the mere mention of Clapham at that period suggests he had himself experienced the influence of the Clapham sect. He cannot have been unaware of that heritage. He was educated at Harrow and Trinity Hall (BA 1885), and was converted ‘in the Henry Martyn Hall’ during the Cambridge mission of Sankey and Moody. He went to British East Africa in 1885 (Centenary Volume of the Church Missionary Society, p.639), where he was ordained by A.R. Tucker Bishop of Eastern Equatorial Africa. In 1889 he recruited a party of mainly Cambridge recruits for a mission expedition to, and was instrumental in what became, CMS Mengo, Uganda 1890-1, then moved to Jilore north of Mombasa 1891-1900, 1904-6, where his wife Edith died in 1893. After his wife Edith’s death in 1893 he remarried a doctor, Elizabeth, and went to establish a CMS mission station in the Kenyan Highlands at Kahuhi, Central Provinces (west of Fort Hall). [see Venn, Alumni Cantabrigienses, online at http://venn.lib.cam.ac.uk/Documents/acad/2016/search-2016.html; E. Stock, History of the Church Missionary Society, esp. iii, 359-66, 453-4 (CCCW Library: 266.11 STO3]

Douglas’s son, Handley Douglas (named for Douglas’s confidant, Handley Moule, Principal of Ridley Hall), was born at Jilore but following his mother’s death was brought up by her sister in England, including education at Queen’s College Cambridge (B.A. 1912) prior to ordination training at Bishop’s Hostel, Bishop’s Auckland. He was himself in Kenya from 1916, the year following his marriage to to (Margaret) Cicely Winterbotham, and served as an officer in the Kenyan Mission Volunteers during the Great War. After the war and his father’s death he carried on his father’s work at Kahuhi until 1926. He then returned to London as CMS Africa Secretary until 1949. He was a canon of Mombasa Cathedral. Both Handley and Cicely Hooper, the latter a force for greater recognition of women missionaries [see Regina Kinuthia’s Pietermaritzburg M.Th. thesis, ‘A Critical Analysis of the Factors that Attract African Women to Conversion to Christian (1900-2000) with Special Reference to the Anglican Church of Kenya (ACK) Diocese of Mt Kenya Central’] wrote on their time in Kenya and their papers and Mrs Hooper’s recollections (1969) were an important source for RW Strayer’s The Making of Mission Communities in East Africa (1978, CCCW Library 266.676 STR; see pp.viii, 162-4). Jocelyn Murray, who worked for a while running the Girls’ School founded by Cicely at the same time as C.J.D. Hooper ran the Normal School, wrote the article on the Hoopers for Anderson’s Biographical Dictionary of Christian Missions [CCCW Library REF 920AND] was also a contributor to Strayer’s book, drawing on her own interviews of Cicely Hooper.

Cyril (1916-c.1999) also worked in Kahuhia, as a teacher at the Normal School (where a colleague at the equivalent Girls’ School was Jocelyn Murray, collaborator with Strayer in Making of Mission Communities – see above) in the 1950s (to 1956), returning (to judge from these papers) to Kenya to be at CMS Nairobi in early 1970s and Kerogo Secondary School, Murang’a in 1973, apparently also in an inspection role for the Education Department. He died two years after donation of these papers, his account of the family’s connection with Kahuhia being brought to completion by Jocelyn Murray as Kahuhia, A Life Story Within the Development of a Christian Community in Kenya (2000).

The papers donated to the Henry Martyn Library, now in the Centre, are all versions or copies – whether manuscript or typescript transcripts, copies of duplicated newsletters or other publications, or photocopies - of records in the CMS Archives at Birmingham University that were donated there shortly before (CMS/ACC 85 – see http://calmview.bham.ac.uk/). In a few cases in HOO 1/1 they may be the manuscript original of what is at Birmingham.

When originally catalogued HOO 1 and HOO 2 represented papers received in January and February 1971 respectively. I have renumbered them to better reflect their archival hierarchy and main division of papers of Handley Hooper (now HOO 1) and his son Cyril (now HOO 2). One rearranges and renumbers with reluctance but the case here seemed strong if not overwhelming (PS).
