

Miscellaneous, mainly published, material for the Anglican Church in Nigeria collected by E.P.T. (Patrick) Crampton

NIG

40 items, 1958-1999

NIG 1-2 presented by Mr Crampton from about 2001 or early 2002, the remainder probably later and placed in Library collections, whence transferred to Archives in March 2014 (Acc.20/5-6), May 2016 and September 2019 (Acc.2016/15)

NIG 1-2 catalogued by Sue Sutton January 2002. Revised, introduction added and NIG 3-8 catalogued by Philip Saunders April 2017, incorporating detailed list of NIG 3 by Isobel Fox of 2014. NIG 9-11 added with other small revisions October 2019

Edmund Patrick Thurman Crampton came from Blackpool and was a student of St Catharine's College Cambridge, where he read geography 1949-52¹ and took a post-graduate Certificate of Education in 1952-3. He went out to Nigeria in 1953 where he was a teacher or worked for the government Education Ministry at a number of places in the northern region, becoming Principal of the Government Secondary School Katsina in the 1970s and later of Barewa College, Zaria ('the oldest, largest and most prestigious school of the northern states if not all Nigeria') before moving to Kaduna. He is author of Christianity in Northern Nigeria (1975, 3rd edition 1978: CCCW Library 276.69 CRA (2nd edition, with illustrations); 276 CRA*1 (3rd edition)), a scholarly account that was the product of his Trinity College Dublin B.D. taken in 1969, reviewed appreciatively by his fellow St Catharine's alumnus Bishop Patterson, the former Archbishop of West Africa, in the St Catharine's Society Magazine of January 1976, pp.25-6— see http://www.society.caths.cam.ac.uk/Public_Magazines/1976r.pdf His bibliographies in NIG 11 appear to be the only research material surviving from this work. He retired to Cambridge and was a user of the Henry Martyn Library, serving on the Library Committee (as Secretary 1994-8) until the end of 2006. He died in 2011 [see St Catherine's Magazine 2011, 2012].

Much of this material was formerly considered part of the library collection and catalogued within it. Other minor publications received from Mr Crampton have been catalogued within the pamphlet collection.²

¹ A younger brother Peter Duncan (1932-2011) also read geography, at Nottingham University, later teaching it at Hull College of Higher Education and becoming involved in Labour politics. He retired from teaching and became a Member of the European Parliament 1989-99 (see below NIG 9).

² Including nos. 91-2, 94-8, 100-1, 127-8, 205-9, 239-40, 264, ?267, ?300, ?312, ?313-15, ?318, ?378, 390, 402 and 414 (the last with additional notes by Crampton).
